Republicans Will Not Run a Candidate—Census Supervisor Smith
Restored by Applicants—Insurance Combine.

(Special to Virginian-Pilot.)
Suffolk, Va., Sept. 21.—The Norfolk and Western railroad has done a good thing for the Phoenix Fire Company. Some time ago the fire boys decided to attend the State Firemen's Convention, in Roanoke. They hadn't enough money on hand to pay all railroad fares and expenses, and many local citizens of generous impulses made contributions to help the firemen go and have a good time. The Council donated $100 to push things along, but still the lads would have to figure to make ends meet. Now the Norfolk and Western has come to the rescue. General Manager Johnson sent fifty-one round-trip tickets with his compliments. That will be enough to pass all the firemen who can go. Local Agent W. B. Hawkins delivered the passes to-day. That puts the firemen on Tuesday street. They will go next Tuesday.

CENSUS ENUMERATORS.
Census Supervisor H. E. Smith has already received a number of applications for appointment as enumerators in the several towns and counties of the Second Congressional District. He doesn't know yet how many enumerators will have to be named, but there will likely be forty or fifty. The appointments will be made for the most part in pursuance with recommendations from the local party authorities. Mr. Smith, as a matter of self-interest, if for nothing else, will try to select the most capable men that can be gotten. The appointments will not be made for some time yet.

COUNTY SUPERVISORS.
The County Supervisors had their regular September meeting to-day. The regularly audited bills were ordered paid and other routine business was done.

SHAKESPEARE'S LOVE TRAGEDY.

Before a large audience embracing much of Suffolk's talent and beauty Shakespeare's thrilling love tragedy, "Romeo and Juliet," was presented at the City Hall Theatre this evening. Frederick Warde and Mrs. Minnie Tittel Brune, gave an interpretation which was punctuated by an applause whose spontaneity was refreshing to the audience and inspiring to the stage folk.

While Mr. Warde to a degree subordinated his Romeo to the Juliet of Mrs. Brune there were times when he was strong, passionate and thrilling. Although he has passed the age of a typical hero of romance and tragedy, there was no lack of vitality in his appearance. He makes a Romeo who is alternately voluptuous, pleading and powerful, but always polished. His close acquaintance with Shakespeare's roles and his long histrionic training lend inspiration to characters for which in superficial aspects he appears no longer suited. The interest centered about Mrs. Brune was almost, if not quite, as intense as that which attached to Mr. Warde. She is a lovely Juliet, full of charm, grace, tenderness and sympathy. She was a sweet and fresh girl, torn with longed-for love, passion and despair. Mrs. Brune's conception of the part is at first a youthful Juliet with a gradual growth and development of power till the climax comes in the tomb scene. The balcony scene was done especially well. It was invested with poetic charm. She gave a charming exhibition of power when the dead lover was found. She died beside him.

Charles D. Herman was strong as Friar Laurence, and Frank Hennig made a good Mercutio. Katherine De Barry got some good character work out of her position as nurse.

Mrs. Brune began in San Francisco when four years old.
DON'T WANT A CANDIDATE.
The Republicans of Southampton County, that is, the Wise faction, will not endorse the candidacy of any man who aspires for honors in the next session of the General Assembly. Some of the leading members of that faction had a meeting this week and decided to put up no candidate for the House of Delegates or Senate. Many Southampton Republicans will vote for Boykin or Shands.

FIRE INSURANCE AGENTS.
Messrs. R. L. Woodward and J. E. West returned to-day from Lynchburg where a State association of local fire agents was organized. The association will meet about once a year. The agents expect by organization to accomplish what they couldn't individually.

LIVES LOST IN THE FIRE

Chief Ryan, who led them in the dangerous fight against the flames, is justly proud of their good work and endurance. They worked bravely for twelve hours, and those who went to the Brambleton fire had fourteen hours' work on a stretch—the hardest kind of work at that.

The rescues they made, with the assistance of the police, street cleaners, hospital attendants and citizens, deserve to rank as noble deeds, attesting the physical bravery of human-kind equally as strong as the stories of courageous acts that come from the battlefields. It has already been told how coolly the sisters assisted in the work of rescuing. Not only they, but the nurses and the hired help bravely did their duty. One of the nurses, Miss Agatha McQuinn, made ten rescues by herself. There was probably not one of the nurses but that had their hair singed and clothes scorched by the flames. So rapidly did the fire spread before the work of rescue was done many of the rescuing party on the third floor were cut off from escape by the stairway and had to be taken out by the firemen on ladders.

HEROIC NO. 9.

An incident of the big fire at St. Vincent's Hospital became public that deserves special mention. When the call was sent to Portsmouth for help the message was sent to the Portsmouth fire station. An officer there whose number is 9, at once ran to the fire engine house, climbed up to the bell and, as the bell rope was missing, he rang a general call, beating with his hands the big clapper against the bell till the bell ran from his fingers, the ends of which were worn raw.

He succeeded, and summoned the department, and it came over to Norfolk, where it did splendid work in helping to subdue the flames and save property. The valued assistance of the Portsmouth Fire Department elicited general praise from the citizens of Norfolk to-day.

No. 9 is Officer James Broughton, a young man who came over afterwards and offered his services in any capacity.

THE FERRY BOATS.

Too much praise cannot be given to the ferry authorities, for as soon as any of the Portsmouth steam fire engines or hose carts reached the water the ferry schedules were disregarded and the boats at once sent to bring them to Norfolk. This was of material assistance in bringing Portsmouth's fire-lighters to the terrible scene quickly.

THANKS FOR HELP.

Chief Ryan desires to express his thanks to the Portsmouth Fire Department for responding so quickly, also to the Navy Department firemen for their assistance. Both contingents did splendid work. Sergeant Petersen in charge of the Navy Department engine and the marines and firemen, 20 in all, showed their pluck on several occasions. Robert B. Whitmore, of this city, was among the first to dash in to rescue firemen Barrett and Foster after the timbers fell on them.

Sister Bernard desires to thank the people in general for their sympathy and kindness. She requests the Virginian-Pilot to extend to everyone who have sent in donations to help in the emergency, the thanks of the sisters. The donations will be acknowledged later.

NOTES.

The mosquito net which started the fire was in Miss Edgerston's room, and caught from a gas jet, the net being allowed to have jets at their own expense. This will not be allowed in the future.

Rev. J. B. Merritt, chaplain of Seamen's Bethel, assisted in the rescuing, and took several patients to his home. The Norfolk physicians, as usual, were conspicuous for coolness and bravery.

AMUSEMENTS.

FREDERICK WARDE TO-NIGHT.

A large and fashionable audience will greet Mr. Frederick Warde to-night at the Academy of Music, when he will present Henry Guy Carlton's romantic drama, "The Lion's Mouth."

Mr. Warde as Rinaldo, the bold, dashing, chivalrous hero, has a very congenial role, one in which his manly presence, his dignity of manner and unfailing earnestness of purpose, his admirable voice and his dramatic force all tell. Rinaldo makes love to Linora like a whirlwind and yet woos her as gently as the softest summer zephyr. He is gentle to his friend, loyal to his purpose of avenging his murdered father, brave to his enemies and generous to those who would have destroyed him in exactly the same way that an audience likes best. At the matinee to-morrow afternoon "Romeo and Juliet" will be presented. At night "Irginicus" will be the bill. Seats for all these performances can be secured at the box office. Usual prices at night; matinee prices, 25, 50 and 75 cents.

PARADE INDICATES THE SHOW.

Be sure to be out for the parade of the Great Wallace Show to-day. It is a solid mile of glittering pageant, with many grand and artistic tableaux, beautiful women, handsome men, all gorgeously attired, and the finest horses ever seen anywhere. There are a number of bands, a herd of elephants, a caravan of camels and scores of open cars. The parade is a true index to the show; so see for yourself in advance whether this one is worth paying to attend. Remember that the Great Wallace Shows give an afternoon and evening performance here to-day.

LAMBERT'S POINT.

Rev. Dr. J. J. Taylor, of Freemason Street Baptist Church, preached to a large congregation at Burrows Memorial Church last night, a strong and practical discourse from the text, "I Must Work the Works of Him That Sent Me."

The funeral of Mr. Louis Cobb, son of Captain Edwin Cobb, who died in Asheville, N. C., Wednesday morning, will take place from the residence of his father, on Thirty-sixth street, at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, and will be conducted by Rev. George W. Cox, of Burrows Memorial Baptist Church.

A large force of hands are engaged in putting into position the iron draw of the Turner's Creek bridge, and it is learned that the structure will be ready for the double track to be laid in about twenty days, when the work of completing the road to Sewell's Point will be pushed forward with all possible speed.

OLYMPIA MAY COME.

PRESIDENT NON-COMMITTAL—DEWEY'S FLAGSHIP MAY COME.

Washington, D. C., September 21.—The Olympia will probably visit Norfolk after the reception of Admiral Dewey in New York.

A delegation of citizens from Norfolk, Richmond and Newport News to-day visited the President and Assistant Secretary of the Navy Allen, and requested that the vessel be sent to the Virginia city. Mr. McKinley, although making no definite promise, assured the delegation that if it is possible, as he thinks it will be, the Olympia will be ordered to Norfolk. Mr. Allen said that he thought that a satisfactory arrangement could be made to have Dewey's flagship visit the Virginia waters. The delegation was headed by Senator Martin.

Cherokee May Be Saved.

(By Telegraph to Virginian-Pilot.)
Paque Island, Mass., Sept. 21.—Wrecking pumps were placed on board the stranded steamer Cherokee at an early hour and lighters have been removing the cargo. The southerly gale of yesterday appears not to have injured the ship very materially. A brisk northerly breeze is blowing tonight, indicating favorable weather. Should the wind remain northerly, it is likely that the ship will be floated to-morrow night.

A New York Physician Advises His Patient to Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

(LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 73,936)

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I have three children and suffered with falling of the womb and flooding. My physician scraped the womb, still the flooding continued and I was no better. At last he advised me to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Then I thought I would write to Mrs. Pinkham for she could advise me better than any one if I was to take her remedies. I received her reply and followed all her directions and I am very glad to send you this testimonial, for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is just what it is recommended to be. I advise all women who suffer from these complaints to try it."—MARIA LEMP, 108 2d AVE., NEW YORK CITY.

"A year ago I was a great sufferer from painful menstruation. I could not lie down or sit down for the dreadful pain each month. I wrote to you and took twelve bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has helped me so I cannot find words to express my gratitude toward Mrs. Pinkham. I am to-day well and hearty."—MISS JOIE SAUL, DOVER, CLARK CO., MICH.

More than a million women have been helped by Mrs. Pinkham's advice and medicine.
